LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL
from
THE SOUTH CAROLINA STATE LIBRARY

To His Excellency, the Honorable Richard W. Riley, Governor of South Carolina, and to The Honorable Members of the General Assembly of South Carolina:

The fiscal year ending June 30, 1981 has been both interesting and challenging, and it is with considerable pride in the staff of the State Library and its Director that I submit to you our annual report.

Emphasis during the year has been on interlibrary cooperation and resource sharing; a goal furthered by a network feasibility study in process at year's end. Cooperation with state agencies is also important and resulted this year in creation of the Early Childhood Media Clearinghouse, the Energy Information Program and the Census Data Center. The Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped assumed certain responsibilities previously shared by the S. C. Commission for the Blind; and a growing number of State agencies have deposited research material to be serviced by the State Library. The 1980 John Cotton Dana Public Relations Award was presented to the State Library for their "Share a Book With a Child" campaign, and a public awareness program through video and TV publicized library service for the blind and physically handicapped. Even Johnny Carson got into the act with comments on the "Call Your Library" campaign in which South Carolina participated along with other states.

Financial problems, however, plagued the State Library. Rising costs and rising demands for service endangered the adequate provision of those services. A tautly organized agency, the State Library particularly suffered from the 7% personnel cutback. At the local level the Hollingsworth case will substantially reduce public library support while federal funds, on which libraries are dangerously dependent, are also being reduced. Faced with severe financial restraints, the State Library has nonetheless superbly managed its funds and both maintained and expanded service to its clients—the State agencies, libraries and citizens of South Carolina.

Respectfully submitted,

SOUTH CAROLINA STATE LIBRARY

Historical Synopsis

In 1929 the General Assembly enacted legislation authorizing establishment of the State Public Library Association, a state library extension agency which was to become known as the South Carolina State Library Board. Due to the great depression which followed, no funds were appropriated for the new agency; however a Board of five citizens was appointed. The first statewide library program was initiated under the Works Progress Administration from 1935 to 1943. When the WPA went out of existence in 1943, the State Library Board inherited its assets and was given the first state appropriation—$3,000—to fund the library program for the last third of the fiscal year. For the first full year of operations, 1943-44, the General Assembly appropriated $15,000 to employ staff and to initiate State Aid to county libraries. Nancy C. Blair, supervisor of the state WPA library project, became the first Executive Secretary of the State Library Board. The Board was charged with the duties of creating public libraries throughout the state and extending library service to rural districts.

In 1946 Estellene Paxton Walker was appointed head of the agency and served—as Executive Secretary, Executive Director, and State Librarian—until 1979. Under her leadership, the State Library Board helped establish or develop county and regional libraries which now serve all of the state's forty-six counties. The pattern of unified county library systems, each legally established and governed by a single library board, made possible a good level of service by eliminating expensive duplication and overhead and by sharing resources and personnel. During the early years of the State Library Board's program, the objectives were to extend public library service, to create a strong legal base for service, to develop local initiative and local support, and to create an understanding of the benefits of public library service and an acceptance of the cost of that service.

When the federal Library Services Act was passed in 1956, Governor George Bell Timmerman, Jr., issued an executive order charging the State Library Board with administering and implementing within the state the library programs provided for in the Act. Through this Act and the subsequent Library Services and Construction Act, the agency's functions were expanded to include service to the blind and physically handicapped, development of library service in state institutions, and interlibrary cooperation. The original LSA/LSCA programs were designed to remedy major deficiencies—units of service too small for economical service, a shortage of qualified professional personnel, inadequate book collections, and inadequate library housing.

In 1965, partially as a result of the First Governor's Conference on Public Libraries, the General Assembly appropriated matching funds to make possible the construction of a new building for the State Library Board through the Library Services and Construction Act. Before the new building was occupied in February 1970, an act (S. C. Code, 1976, 60-1-10 et seq.) was passed by the General Assembly in 1967, to become effective July 1, 1969, redesignating the State Library Board as the South Carolina State Library and making it responsible for public library development, library service for State institutions, service for the blind and physically handicapped, and library service to State Government and State Government agencies. In 1973 the South Carolina State Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped was established and now serves more than 8,600 registered borrowers.

Since 1969, the State Library has had a dual role. As the library extension agency it provides a staff of consultants to assist public and state institutional libraries in strengthening services; maintains a comprehensive collection of books, documents, periodicals, films and other materials to supplement local library holdings; operates a reference and interlibrary loan service to provide information not available at the local level; and administers state and federal aid to libraries. As a reference and research library for State Government, the State Library supplies legislators, officials, research staff, and State agency personnel with the facts, statistics, or technical data required for planning and decision making. It answers questions, lends books and materials, researches issues, prepares bibliographies, collects state and federal documents, and provides information about legislation and programs of other states and the U. S. Government.

Because county libraries were originally established by individual enabling acts passed by the General Assembly, the effects of the 1975 Home Rule Act upon local legislation necessitated passage of a statewide library act. In 1978 the Legislature amended the Home Rule Act to require counties to provide public library systems. Act 564 (S. C. Code, 1979 Supp., Sec. 4-9-35 et seq.) stated:

> "The General Assembly finds that county public libraries make a substantial contribution to the education and recreation of the residents of the State and merit the continued interest and support of State and local government."

In 1979 the South Carolina Governor's Conference and the White House Conference on Library and Information Services mobilized public support for libraries, focused on the special needs of the handicapped, and stimulated interest in library cooperation. The Task Force on Library Automation and Networking, created by the State Library, became an agent for exchange of information and for planning of a statewide bibliographic network.

Since 1967 the State's financial support for public libraries has grown substantially. In that year State Aid for public libraries was changed from $1,500 per county to 20¢ per capita ($69,650). Gradual increases in per capita support resulted from the joint efforts of librarians, trustees, and Friends of Libraries. The appropriation for FY 81 was 75¢ per capita ($1,942,887) in State Aid to public libraries. Adoption of the 1980 census by the General Assembly will increase State Aid to $2,339,406 for 1981-82.

The South Carolina State Library exists to serve citizens, libraries, and government. Its goals are to provide the library services and resources needed by the people of South Carolina and to give every individual access to the informational resources of the state. Whenever possible these responsibilities are met by means of programs designed to strengthen and improve the public and State institutional libraries which serve the public. When economy or efficiency so dictate, the State Library serves library users directly, as in service to State Government or service to the blind and physically handicapped. An on-going objective is to encourage cooperative activities and sharing of resources by all South Carolina libraries.

Highlights of 1980-81

Study and planning focused on ways to promote resource sharing in interlibrary cooperation and to develop a statewide bibliographic network. A needs assessment on library automation, conducted by the Task Force on Library Automation and Networking, led to a network feasibility study conducted by the Metrics Research Corporation of Atlanta and scheduled for completion in September 1981. The study is the first step toward realization of long-range plans for development of a state network, utilizing computer and telecommunications technology, to serve all types of libraries and to enable library users to utilize the total library resources of the state no matter where the location. LSCA grants encouraged membership in the Southeastern Library Network. The cataloging input by SOLINET members, Retrospective Conversion (RECON) projects, and the cataloging of the state documents collection are slowly building a computerized data base which will be partially in place when the time comes to implement a state network.

Cooperation was also the keynote in service to State Government agencies. The Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped reached an agreement with the South Carolina Commission for the Blind delineating the responsibilities of each and assigning machine lending functions solely to the Division. The Energy Information Program, funded by grants from the U. S. Department of Energy, and housed at the State Library, was implemented in cooperation with the State Board for Technical and Comprehensive Education. At the request of the Governor's Task Force on Early Childhood Education, the State Library became coordinator for of Early Childhood Media Clearinghouse. The Division of Research and Statistical Services, the USC Computer Center, and the State Library joined together to create the State Data Center to make census information more accessible to all citizens.

The Library Interpretation Project, funded by LSCA for the twentieth year, continued to publicize the services of South Carolina libraries in general and of public libraries specifically. The climax of the year's activities was the "Call Your Library" campaign, coordinated with the American Library Association's nationwide publicity, to encourage use of telephone reference service. The Magical Mad Hatter Reading Program encouraged children to use the library. The 1980 "Share a Book With a Child" campaign won a national John Cotton Dana Public Relations Award. In cooperation with the National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, a year long public awareness campaign utilizing radio and TV was carried out with the support of stations throughout the state.

Efforts to increase State Aid for public libraries to $1.00 per capita were unsuccessful; but adoption of the 1980 census as the base for State Aid resulted in an increase of $396,519 or a total of $2,339,406 for FY 82. Public libraries experienced a serious setback when the Supreme Court ruled in the case of Hollingsworth on Wheels versus Greenville County Treasurer that the library tax levies are not exempt from the tax abatement granted on industrial property. The decision negated the educational status thought to have been granted by the 1978 library legislation and will reduce local library income substantially.

Nevertheless 1981-82 ended on a positive note. The State Library received and accepted an invitation to become a member of the Association of Southeastern Research Libraries. Miss Estellene Walker, former State Librarian, completed a history of South Carolina public libraries, "So Good and Necessary to Work", which was published by the State Library.

The State Library Board

The South Carolina State Library is an independent state agency governed by a library board of seven members named by the Governor, with one member from each Congressional District and one from the State at large. Act 317 of 1980 changed terms of board members from four to five years and re-established staggered appointments. The terms of four members expired June 30, 1981. Governor Richard W. Riley reappointed Dr. Hugh E. Vincent, Jr. (Third Congressional District) and Mr. Buford Mobley (Fourth Congressional District). Mr. Allen R. Carter, Jr. of Hanahan was named to succeed Dr. G. Creighton Frampton in the First District. No appointment has been made for the Fifth Congressional District.

READER SERVICES

The Reader Services Department provides assistance in the use of the reference and information resources of the State Library. Members of State government and State agencies make direct use of the library's resources. Citizens of the State have access to the library's services through their local public library.

Reference and Information Service to State Government

State government agencies and their employees need information on a variety of topics to effectively plan and implement programs to benefit the citizens of South Carolina. Drawing upon the State Library's collection of books, journals, microforms, and government documents, a staff of specially trained reference librarians work closely with State government personnel in providing information and materials needed to support research. The collection is especially strong in the areas of government, human services, social sciences, state and local planning, and current affairs. The collection is constantly being developed to reflect changes and needs in State government. The staff works with agencies to determine materials to be purchased and placed in the State Library, thereby providing centralized access and reducing unnecessary duplication in various State agencies.

Several specialized collections have been established in cooperation with other State agencies. The Educational Resources Information Center (ERIC) containing more than 198,000 documents on microfiche has been developed in conjunction with the State Department of Education. This collection is used extensively by educators and students. The Service Center for Aging Information (SCAN), developed in cooperation with the South Carolina Commission on Aging, provides access to research reports in the area of gerontology. During the year, the State Library received more than 6,000 documents from the National Criminal Justice Reference Service Institute in cooperation with the South Carolina Criminal Justice Academy. These documents provide research information on all aspects of law enforcement. In July 1980, the State Library began a cooperative program with the State Board of Technical and Comprehensive Education (TEC) in providing energy information. The Energy Information Center of TEC's Energy Extension Service was established within the State Library to develop a strong collection in the field of energy. The Center is serviced by a TEC employee who devotes half time to energy information requests. A small grant from the Energy Extension Service is used to purchase energy materials for the State Library.

In cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of the Census and the Division of Research and Statistical Services of the Budget and Control Board, the State Library is participating in the S. C. State Data Center. The purpose of the Data Center is to provide easy citizen access to statistics on housing, agriculture, business, transportation, and socio-economic characteristics of the population contained in government publications.

Serving as the South Carolina regional depository for materials distributed by the Foundation Center in New York, the State Library has an extensive collection of materials relating to private foundations. This collection is an excellent source for individuals and organizations seeking grants from philanthropic foundations.

The State Library reference staff works closely with library users to assist them in making the best use of the library's resources. During the year the reference staff conducted 17 orientation sessions on the library's services for State employees. Four workshops on the use of State and federal regulations were heavily attended by State employees. To keep State personnel aware of new publications, the State Library publishes and distributes monthly New Resources, a selective listing of items recently added to the collection. During 1980-81, the State Library circulated 21,479 books to State agency personnel and processed 6,034 reference questions.

Legislative Reference Service

Since 1974 the State Library has provided special information services for members of the General Assembly. A librarian from the State Library works closely with legislators and committee researchers to identify research needs. The reference staff from the State Library is available to either perform the needed research or to direct individuals to the best source of information. Some legislators familiar with the service telephone the library directly with their requests. In the past year, legislators and their researchers borrowed 541 books and submitted 280 reference questions. The State Library provided free of charge 1,948 pages of photocopy in response to reference questions and 6,450 pages of photocopy through the USC Law Library.

Reference and Interlibrary Loan Service

The State Library functions as the central unit of a statewide interlibrary loan network designed to supplement and coordinate library resources in South Carolina. The Reference and Interlibrary Loan Service, drawing on the research collection of the State Library, works with local libraries to supply South Carolinians with materials and information not available in their own communities. Public and State institutional libraries have direct access to the State Library via an In-WATS telephone service which allows interlibrary requests to be submitted and processed rapidly. To allow librarians to determine the holdings of the State Library as quickly as possible, a microfilm copy of the Library's catalog has been placed in 38 public libraries throughout South Carolina. The State Library has also distributed the third edition of its periodicals holdings list to public and academic libraries within the state.

Since no single library can supply all materials required by its patrons, the State Library has acquired the sources necessary to access other collections within the state and the nation. In order to determine the holdings of major South Carolina libraries, the State Library has microfilmed the catalogs of Clemson University and the University of South Carolina. For more technical and comprehensive requests requiring location of materials outside South Carolina, the State Library makes use of various union catalogs and the resources of its membership in the Southeastern Library Network (SOLINET). Through SOLINET, the State Library has on-line access to a computerized data base of over 6 million items held by more than 2600 libraries. The State Library uses this data base to verify locations and to receive requests through the Interlibrary Loan Subsystem from many of the 30 other South Carolina member libraries.

As part of a continuing effort to upgrade the reference capabilities of library personnel without formal training in library science, the State Library presented a series of five regional workshops. These workshops on basic reference techniques and sources were attended by 152 public and academic librarians from all areas of South Carolina. To encourage better use of the State Library's reference service by South Carolina libraries, the interlibrary loan librarians made four field trips to local libraries and met with five county librarians to discuss interlibrary loan procedures and techniques.

During 1980-81, the Reference and Interlibrary Loan Service received 3,679 In-WATS calls, answered 5144 reference requests, and supplied 21,971 books and 11,170 pages of photocopy in reply to interlibrary loan requests.

Government Documents

The South Carolina State Library maintains collections of federal documents and South Carolina state documents. Government documents are the official publications of the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government and contain valuable information often not available in other publications.

Since 1970 the State Library has received federal documents through the depository system operated by the U. S. Superintendent of Documents. 20,375 documents were added during the year bringing the total collection to 59,799. In addition to government reports, laws and regulations, documents provide information on a variety of subjects including solar energy, agriculture, geology, economics, labor and public transportation.

Similar to federal documents but localized to South Carolina information is the South Carolina state documents collection maintained by the State Library. Since 1970, the State Library has made a concerted effort to obtain official publications of S. C. State agencies and government. The publications provide current general statistical information and serve as an excellent source for historical research. The collection is used extensively by researchers from this state and others. State agencies refer individuals to the State Library to use publications, thereby reducing additional publication costs and unnecessary distribution of State publications. During the year 1,892 publications were added to the collection bringing the total number of documents to 15,014.

Since state documents represent one of the major forms of research produced in South Carolina, it is important that they be preserved and made readily available to South Carolinians. A state documents depository system is needed to assure the availability of these publications both in the State Library and selected libraries around the state. South Carolina remains one of the few states which has not enacted such depository legislation requiring that all state publications be sent to depository libraries. Without fixed legislation, it is impossible to ensure that all current publications are received.

Each year the State Library compiles, publishes, and distributes the Checklist of South Carolina State Publications which lists publications of state governmental departments received by the State Library during the fiscal year.

Library Network Development

Libraries face formidable tasks in organizing and providing access to the vast amount of information being generated today. Increasingly libraries are using computer technology to expedite traditional library processes such as acquisitions, cataloging, and circulation of library materials. Computerized data bases containing research information are being used to provide reference service. The automation of library resources provides the mechanism for one library to quickly access the holdings of other libraries. As a result libraries are joining together in cooperative networks to share resources. Such networks exist at the local, state and national levels. In South Carolina, the State Library hopes to develop a statewide network of libraries to provide efficient access to the holdings of significant library collections around the state. Such a statewide network would enable a citizen to gain access to holdings of the state's libraries through the local library.

In 1979, the State Library organized the South Carolina Task Force on Library Automation and Networking to make recommendations concerning library automation activities in order to assure the maximum use of existing systems and the orderly development of future systems which would be compatible with each other. During the year the Task Force met four times and made plans for a study of the feasibility of establishing and operating a statewide library network for South Carolina. The consulting firm of Metrics Research Corporation of Atlanta was selected to conduct the four-month study. The purposes of the study are: to assist the library community to arrive at a consensus regarding the nature of a statewide network, to identify potential benefits of the network and to propose a realistic plan of action to be taken in planning a statewide library network. The study began in June and is expected to be completed in September, 1981.

Many of the state's libraries presently belong to the Southeastern Library Network (SOLINET), one of the major regional library networks in the country providing cooperative cataloging and location services. Participation by these libraries in SOLINET provides the basis for development of a statewide library network. To encourage additional membership of South Carolina libraries in SOLINET, the State Library has used Title III, LSCA grants for the establishment of SOLINET clusters and additional SOLINET memberships by S. C. libraries. The SOLINET cluster arrangement enables two or more libraries to share a common computer terminal thereby reducing costs and permitting smaller libraries to benefit from automation. The Spartanburg cluster (Wofford College, Converse College, and Spartanburg County Library) and the Florence cluster (Florence-Darlington TEC, and Florence and Darlington County Libraries) completed the first year of a three-year project in March 1980. In general, the libraries benefitted from an increased quality of cataloging, reduced staff involvement in routine operations, and increased accessibility to library resources. A third cluster in Greenwood composed of Lander College and Piedmont TEC became operational in January 1981. During the year grants were made to three larger public libraries to enable them to join SOLINET. The Anderson County Library and Charleston County Library became operational in 1981. The Greenville County Library was accepted into SOLINET membership and will become operational in 1982.

TECHNICAL SERVICES

The Technical Services Department coordinates the selection, ordering and processing of all materials for the State Library collection, including audiovisual materials and large type books for the Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped. The bookstock is a one-copy, non-fiction collection, except for South Carolina titles. It includes periodicals and newspapers in both paper and microfilm, and services such as ERIC in microfiche. There are separate collections of both federal and state documents. Additions during the year are as follows:

Item	Additions	Total
Books	5,473	159,199
State Documents	1,892	25,014
Federal Documents in print	12,708	52,132
Federal Documents in microfiche	7,667	7,667
Microfilm reels	545	10,888
Microfiche	27,249	211,417

Being a member of Southeastern Library Network, a computerized network of libraries affiliated with the national network, OCLC, Inc., has made it possible to continue input of our retrospective holdings into the data base. The number of retrospective titles added this year was 20,202 at a cost of $.35 per title for staff time and OCLC charges. Increased requests for these older titles have been noted by Interlibrary Loan.

The complete list of South Carolina State Library Periodical Holdings was again updated to include all holdings since the previous year's edition. This list is distributed to State agencies and to public and academic libraries throughout the state.

The Book Selection Committee reviewed the Book Selection Policy statement and the Gift Policy statement, which were revised in 1979. This is an annual review to keep the policy statements current with the state's needs.

FIELD SERVICES

The Field Services Program is designed to extend and improve public library service throughout the state. The Field Services Department, the library development arm of the State Library, is made up of a team of six consultants, including four generalists and specialists in children's services and film services. They serve as a liaison between the State Library and thirty-nine county and regional library systems which provide service to all of the state's forty-six counties. The nature of the work which these consultants do with local librarians depends upon the level of library service in the system and on the training and experience of the individual librarians.

In general the Field Services Program serves as a catalyst for improvement. The role of the Field Staff is to assist librarians, trustees, and citizens in determining the library needs of the community and ways to meet those needs; provide in-service training on a one-to-one basis, in meetings, and through statewide workshops; explore solutions to local problems with library staff and boards; and provide ideas and information on diverse topics such as construction, staff development, and budget presentation. It is the responsibility of the Field Staff to supervise the administration of State Aid and to monitor grants-in-aid under the Library Services and Construction Act. In the latter, they assist local librarians with needs assessments and in developing grant applications to address weaknesses. During fiscal 1980-81, the Field Service Librarians:

—worked with 39 systems serving 46 counties of the state

—made 259 field trips

—attended 60 local library board meetings

—monitored library budgets including approximately $10 million in local funds

—administered $1,942,887 in State Aid grants to public libraries

—supervised LSCA projects providing approximately $464,713 in grants-in-aid

—represented the State Library at local, state, and national conferences, conventions, workshops, professional associations, building dedications, civic organizations, and other state and local meetings —provided recruiting, placement, and training services for public librarians.

STATE AID FOR PUBLIC LIBRARIES

Recognizing the state's responsibility for the support of public libraries as part of South Carolina's total educational and cultural program, the General Assembly appropriated $1,942,887 to the State Library for distribution in 1981—at 75¢ per capita—to county and regional libraries.

To participate in the State Aid program public libraries must be legally established, provide county-wide library service, maintain levels of county funding, and meet certain standards of service. The regulations under which the State Library administers the State Aid program—expanded in FY 81 to include additional categories of expenditures—ensure that state funds will not replace local funds and that these funds will be used to achieve a higher standard of public library service in every county of the state. Qualifying libraries may use State Aid funds to supplement staff salaries, to purchase books and audio-visual materials, to purchase or lease equipment, and to operate and maintain bookmobiles—all vital in meeting the people's informational and recreational needs.

In FY 81 the General Assembly authorized the implementation of the 1980 census for all state-funded per capita programs in FY 82. This action will result in a $396,519 increase in State Aid for county and regional public libraries for 1981-82.

FEDERAL AID TO SOUTH CAROLINA LIBRARIES

The purposes of the Library Services and Construction Act include the improvement and extension of public library service, the improvement of library service for certain priority groups, the construction of public library buildings, the strengthening of state library agencies, and promotion of interlibrary cooperation among all types of libraries.

Federal aid is used in South Carolina to supplement and reinforce State Aid to libraries, to provide the incentive for improved local support, and to provide a better level of service for all South Carolinians. A major objective is the extension of service to the unserved and the inadequately served. All forty-six counties in the state now have legally established unified county library systems providing every South Carolinian with access to public library service.

Title I of LSCA provides for improved service to public and institutional libraries and to certain segments of the population. LSCA grants-in-aid have been used to strengthen book and periodical collections, to initiate new programs of service, and to improve the level of service in existing programs. The quality of library personnel has improved because of the recruitment of new staff and the continuing education of existing staff. With the help of LSCA funds, libraries are reaching out to help the culturally disadvantaged, the functionally illiterate, the elderly, the handicapped, and isolated people who need special services. LSCA also provides grants to improve library service in state-supported institutions.

For a ten-year period, 1964-1973, LSCA Title II provided monies for public library construction. This title has not been funded since 1973.

Title III programs have helped promote interlibrary cooperation and resource sharing. LSCA has contributed to improved communications, bibliographic access, interlibrary loan, in-service training, study and planning. The feasibility of establishing a state bibliographic network is currently being examined. The building of a statewide data base will help eliminate expensive duplication of materials and will make the state's library resources available to all South Carolinians.

CONTINUING EDUCATION FOR LIBRARIANS

Well-trained library staff is necessary to provide effective library service. Therefore, the State Library supports a program of continuing education for public and institutional library personnel at all levels as well as for library trustees. Grants are awarded to professional and non-professional personnel to attend seminars, conferences, and workshops and academic courses in librarianship. During 1980-81, grants were awarded to twelve non-professional personnel representing nine public and one institutional library to attend a two-week course on public library service sponsored by the State Library in cooperation with the University of South Carolina College of Librarianship. The course provided an overview of the various aspects of public library service. A grant was also awarded to a pre-professional librarian to attend a regular academic course in librarianship covering materials for the young adult.

Six professional librarians received grants to attend a workshop on Fundamentals of Public Personnel Management. Two institutional librarians attended a bibliotherapy workshop. Four professional librarians also received grants to attend the Southeastern Library Asociation pre-conference on the Planning Process, and one library administrator attended the Executive Development Program for Library Administrators. A public library trustee was awarded a grant to attend the Southeastern Library Association Conference which included a program for trustees.

State Library personnel also benefitted from attendance at workshops on word processing and automation, audio-visual technology, data processing, census data use, government documents, personnel communications and performance, library space planning and record keeping.

LIBRARY SERVICES FOR THE DISADVANTAGED

During 1981, the State Library, using federal funds under its administration, made grants-in-aid to fourteen county and regional library systems to establish, expand, and extend library service to the disadvantaged in South Carolina. These grants enabled participating libraries to employ personnel, provide transportation, develop collections of reading and audio-visual materials, and purchase special equipment needed to implement service to the disadvantaged. A grant was made to assist one weak county library system develop minimum levels of service and financial support prerequisite for outreach services.

Over the past two years, fewer small grants have been made in order that the projects funded might be larger and more effective. Participating libraries are required to phase in local funding to insure continuation of programs. Because of delays in receiving FY 81 funds, a number of projects scheduled for the current year were late in being implemented and will continue into 1981-82.

Through this project a sound filmstrip collection was maintained. This collection is available through interlibrary loan to all public and institutional libraries in South Carolina. During 1981, 1,170 filmstrips were loaned to county and institutional libraries.

FILM SERVICE

The State Library's 16mm film program supplements and strengthens the resources of South Carolina public and State institutional libraries. The films are documentary/informational films for all ages and are used by public and State institutional libraries to meet the informational needs of library patrons. The collection includes some 1,100 films and is updated by constant additions. A catalog of the film collection is revised periodically and distributed to all public and institutional libraries to assist them in using the film service.

The Field Service Librarian for Audio-Visual Services provides in-service training, technical assistance, and guidance in planning, programming, and promotion for the staff of participating libraries. A quarterly newsletter provides information about new acquisitions, local film programs, and suggested activities.

Since the film program began, the State Library has conducted three statewide and four regional film workshops. The number of libraries participating in the program has increased from 31 in 1974 to 48 in 1981. A total of 5,577 film programs reached an audience of 120,668 this year.

LIBRARY SERVICE TO CHILDREN

In order to provide better library service for children, the State Library assists public and institutional libraries in planning and evaluating services, developing stronger materials collections, training and orienting staff members, and promoting and publicizing activities.

During fiscal year 1980-81, a statewide public relations campaign to increase adult awareness of the importance of reading to children was sponsored by the State Library in cooperation with public libraries. The State Library received the John Cotton Dana Award, a national library public relations award, for this "Share a Book

With a Child" project. The State Library also coordinated a statewide summer reading program for children for the summer of 1981. Regional workshops on collection development were held in four locations. The children's consultant made 51 field visits and worked with general field staff in supervising Federal grants-in-aid related to serving children.

The Media Committee of the Governor's Task Force on Early Childhood Education identified a need for a state clearinghouse to facilitate sharing of materials used by educators, workers, and parents of pre-school children. The State Library was designated as coordinator of the Early Childhood Media Clearinghouse and began the identification and listing of materials currently available through state and other agencies. The Clearinghouse will be fully implemented in 1981-82.

PUBLIC LIBRARY CONSTRUCTION

Although the State Library no longer has federal funds to aid in public library construction, it does assist local library systems planning new construction, renovations, or additions. Upon request, the Field Staff provides consultant service on library planning and reviews schematic plans, working drawings and specifications. During 1980-81, construction was completed on three public library branch buildings: the Pendleton Branch in Anderson County, the Irmo Branch in Lexington County and the Pageland Branch in Chesterfield County. Construction was begun on the headquarters building in York County and on the new Grand Strand Branch in Horry County.

INSTITUTIONAL LIBRARY SERVICES

For residents of state-supported institutions, their libraries are part of the recreational, educational and rehabilitation programs of the individual institutions. Required by law to serve all citizens of the state, the South Carolina State Library provides consistent support to these institutional libraries through the administration of federal grants and the services of a consultant.

From the beginning of the institutional library project in 1967, collection development has been emphasized, for which grants are provided annually. Beyond money and consultant services, the program also includes workshops for administrators and librarians, scholarships for staff development, reference assistance and interlibrary loan services. Thirty-three institutions maintained by eight State departments or agencies participate in this project, giving library service to some 21,000 residents. Sixteen of these institutions offer full-service library programs, while seventeen others have branch libraries, bookmobile service, or deposits. The Department of Corrections operates the largest program, serving fourteen adult correctional facilities from a central library division.

Institutions which are too small to maintain conventional library programs are served by a special project of the State Library. The South Carolina Crippled Children's Convalescent Center receives library service through a three-way contract under which the State Library provides funds to the Florence County Library to give service to this Center. Three addiction centers and a vocational rehabilitation center annually receive collections of paperback books especially selected for their residents' use in therapy or recreation.

LIBRARY SERVICES TO THE BLIND AND PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED

The South Carolina State Library has the responsibility for providing library services to the blind and physically handicapped in the state. This service is provided to those South Carolinians who are unable to read conventional print due to a visual or physical handicap. Books and magazines are available in recorded form (disc and tape), braille, and in large print. Most readers read recorded books and for them the library supplies a sound reproducer (either a talking book machine or a cassette playback machine). The South Carolina State Library administers this service in cooperation with the Library of Congress. Braille service is provided under a contract with the North Carolina State Library.

In fiscal year 1981, the library provided services to 8,671 people, an increase of 1,806 over the previous year. A total of 129,891 books and magazines were borrowed. Not reflected in these totals are many magazines received directly by the readers from the producers under contract to the Library Congress. Books added to the collection numbered 15,542 volumes.

Seven South Carolina titles were recorded by volunteers during the year. Books recorded by volunteers in other states were also added to the collection, thus offering our readers a greater variety of reading matter.

Since service is chiefly a mail order service from Columbia, a quarterly large print newsletter and an In-WATS telephone line serve as major means of communication. Public libraries help promote the service, identify potential users, and assist new readers by demonstrating how equipment works and explaining how the program operates. In five county libraries—Anderson, Charleston, Florence, Greenville, and Spartanburg—the State Library maintains browsing collections of several hundred recorded books. Public libraries are encouraged to involve the handicapped in local programming.

Since the State Library began providing this service directly in 1973, tremendous growth has been recorded. The number of people using the service in 1981 was 8,761 compared to 1,800 in 1973. The size of the book collection has grown to 99,000. In 1973 only 10,000 volumes were available. It is estimated that 40,550 South Carolinians are eligible for this service. The growth in readership should level off at about 15,000. Growth in readership will require a comparable growth in the size of the collection. The big problem facing the library now is space. Additional space will be needed by 1983 for the library to adequately serve its patrons.

Outreach efforts of the library continued in 1981. New application brochures and posters were produced and distributed to public libraries and agencies concerned with the handicapped. The library continued to participate in the National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped public relations program utilizing radio and television public service announcements.

LIBRARY LEGISLATION, 1981

Act 25, a bill to repeal Chapters 5 and 7 of Title 60 of the Code of Laws of South Carolina, was approved by the General Assembly and signed by the Governor on April 9, 1981. The act repealed legislation dealing with the establishment of county and regional public libraries dating from the 1920's which was never used and was superseded by the statewide library act of 1978, Section 4-9-35 et seq., which was passed as an amendment to the Home Rule Act.

The State Library continued to seek passage of a Documents Depository and Distribution Law designating the State Library as central depository for all State documents and providing for the collection, listing, and distribution of State publications to designated depository libraries around the state. Such legislation would provide bibliographic control of State documents and make possible free and easy access to such documents by citizens of the state. Identical bills, S27 and H2207, were introduced in the Senate and House. As in the previous session of the legislature, there was opposition from certain legislators who do not recognize the need for such a bill and fear the program might require additional state personnel. S27 received second reading in the Senate and remained on the calendar at the close of the legislative session. H2207 was never reported out of the House Ways and Means Committee.
